Said to Be in Brooklyn.

by An Old Friend,

A rumor reached Brooklyn this morning that William H. Stevens, the embezliouor dealers of Red Bank, N. J., who was supposed to be dead, was alive and Little could be learned of the matter in Brooklyn to-day. The story telegraped to the effect that Stevens is or was a singer in Talmage's Tabernsele is flatly contradicted, and in fact it is said that no ling whatever is known concerning him.

Mr. John Wood, Tressurer of the church, was seen by an Evening World the church, was seen by an Evening World the church in the church and the church in the church for the reason that we have no angers, all the music being furnished by an organ, corner and congregational singing. I never heard of the man and am sure that he is not in any way connected with the church."

The despaich from Freehold stated that Stevens was living at 804 De Kaib avenue. The reporter then ca led at that address but could get ue information.

The house is a large three-story frame structure. The hinds were drawn and there were no signs of life about the prechises. There was no response to several vigorous pulls at the bell.

The neighbors declined to speak of the matter.

The grasping ice barons are taking ad-that there is not sufficient ice in the city to supply the demand for more than two days. Last Saturday it was deliberately and falsely alleged that we were in real danger of au ice tamine.

Perhaps we would be if there were no ice in Maine, but last Winter's crop in that State was the largest ever harvested, and it is being shipped to the city in quantities large enough to supply every demand.

The ice schooners carry cargoes of about 800 tons each, and it is estimated that from twe ve to fifteen cargoes a day is amply sufficient to supply the New York market.

Recently the vessels have been arriving tere in greater numbers, as the record for Suntay and yesterday shows.

One of the officers of the Kniekerbocker Company says that there is not the slightest prospect of any lower prices torough the host senson than those of the present, all hough he admits that the supplies in Ma ne are sufficient to keep the Companies acquing till next Wister.

In other words, while the companies are able to procure plenty of ice to serve their contract customers in town at the rate of $2.50 a ton, they are making up this loss by charging the poor people of the city all the way from $20 to $25 a ton.

The contract customers of the Trast are the big hotels and restaurants and the butchers and inh dealers. Most of them made three-year contracts two years ago.

It is to the interest of the ice mononomade three-year contracts two years ago It is to the interest of the ice monopolists to create the impression that there is a great scarcity of ice in the city in order to justify the imposition of the present

His lawyers interposed legal obstacles and he was released on ball pending a final decision in his case.

Last March it was reported in Freehold that Stevens had died. The news created quite a sensation and was talked about by everybody.

The story spread about the country was so plausible that everybody believed it, and it is said that the authorities were taken in by it to such an extent that no seeps were ever taken in the case. The judges felt convinced of Steven's death, and the writ of error was never considered.

After the water was bailed out of our boat, which contained seventeen persons, we were left in charge of the third mate to make our way to the shore. Our boat capsized again in the breakers. We were thrown out, and it struck with such a force against my face that it nearly stanned me. I was resting on the sand, and see ag my companions safe, I called for help, and was rescued just as a wave came to wash me out again.
